Notification Waiver Determination

Infosys – Optimum Healthcare IT

Acquisition	Infosys Nova Holdings LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Infosys Limited (Infosys), applied for a notification waiver in respect of its proposed acquisition of Optimum Achieve Holdings, Inc (Optimum Healthcare IT), as described in the transaction documents provided as part of the application (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABV(1)(a) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition is not required to be notified.
Date of determination	17 April 2026

Parties to the Acquisition	Infosys is a global consulting and IT services company registered in India. Infosys provides a range of professional services across consulting, application development and maintenance, testing, business process management, cybersecurity, transformation, digital, cloud services, AI and automation, and data analytics. In Australia, Infosys provides services to Government and private sector organisations including in the financial services and telecommunications sectors. Optimum Healthcare IT is a digital transformation and consulting firm based in the US that specialises in providing services to the healthcare industry. Its broader suite of services includes digital transformation services, enterprise application services, managed services and application managed services, analytics and AI enablement, and cybersecurity and compliance. In Australia, Optimum Healthcare IT has limited operations.
Explanation for determination	In making this notification waiver determination, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (the ACCC) has considered the information provided with the notification waiver application and had regard to the factors in section 51ABV(2)(b) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act). Based on the information provided in the application, the ACCC considers that the Acquisition is unlikely to give rise to any material lessening of competition. In particular: a. there is a small horizontal overlap between Infosys and Optimum Healthcare IT in the supply of IT implementation and support services for healthcare services in Australia b. Optimum Healthcare IT has a small presence in Australia c. there are alternative suppliers of IT implementation and support services for healthcare services in Australia.

	The ACCC has also had regard to the likelihood that, if the Acquisition were put into effect, the notification thresholds determined under section 51ABP(1) of the Act would apply. While the ACCC considers that the notification thresholds are likely to be met, given that material competition concerns are unlikely to arise, the ACCC has determined that the Acquisition is not required to be notified. The ACCC considers that the determination is consistent with the object of the Act and the interests of consumers in promoting competition. For more information about the ACCC's approach to considering notification waiver applications and to assessing competition effects more generally, see the ACCC's interim guidance on notification waivers and merger assessment guidelines.
